ABOUT HULYA

Hulya Mehmet is a Consultant Speech and Language Therapist, author of Is It Autism or Late Talking?, and a recognised thought leader in child communication, behaviour, and neurodiversity.

With over 25 years of clinical and advisory experience across the NHS, private practice, education, and family services, Hulya helps audiences rethink how we support children who communicate differently.

She is known for her ability to translate complexity into clarity, delivering practical tools and meaningful insight — with transformational results.

SPEAKING STYLE

Hulya brings calm authority, clarity, and deep expertise to every audience. Her speaking style is evidence-based and highly engaging — translating complex ideas into practical strategies that audiences can use immediately.

Whether addressing corporate teams, educators, healthcare professionals, or public sector leaders, Hulya creates a space that is insightful, inclusive, and results-focused. She is known for bridging the gap between theory and practice — leaving audiences informed, empowered, and inspired to act.

"Your talk was the highlight of the day — insightful, grounding, and full of humanity."

– Event Host

SPEAKING TOPICS

Talks and workshops can be tailored to suit your audience or theme.

The Power of Communication in Shaping Culture

Why the way we speak — and listen — transforms workplace culture, leadership impact, and team wellbeing.

Ideal for: Corporate teams, HR leaders, DEI professionals, and public sector leadership training.

Creating Communication-Rich Classrooms

What every educator needs to know to support connection, resilience, and inclusive learning.

Ideal for: INSET days, CPD training, early years settings, and school leadership teams.

Behaviour is a Form of Communication

A communication-first approach to understanding and responding to behaviour in families, services, and frontline teams.

Ideal for: NHS professionals, social care teams, CAMHS, and integrated family support services.

From Conflict to Connection

Communication strategies that help parents shift power struggles into stronger relationships.

Ideal for: Parenting organisations, early help services, and family hubs.

Rethinking Neurodiversity

How to support different minds through communication, culture, and connection — beyond labels or limitations.

Ideal for: Inclusion leads, SENCOs, corporate DEI teams, and neurodiversity panels or summits.

Hulya speaks at high-impact events and delivers keynotes, panels, and workshops both in-person and online for:
